

Methods of Foot Therapy

A. M. Mondl<sup>1</sup>†

Abstract

By a group of pictures the author demonstrates, step by step, the process used at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital at Carville, Louisiana, which seems to be the most practical method for the relief of the pressure points and which is the method he taught on his last trip to East Asia. A "sheet of directions" for use of foot print mats and a set of models of casts and buildups are explained. Another method, which requires the use of casts and is similar to the Plastazote method in its results, is discussed.
